How to find the least number of perfect squares? As the title says, I need to find the least number of perfect squares in an array (zero or more dimensions). There are plenty of questions with the same constraints, but to be honest, I couldn't understand a single solution. I can only find one solution, but it does not work for this problem. I'm relatively new to Haskell, so please go easy on me.

This is what I have so far: `import Data.List`
`solve :: [Integer] -> Integer`
`solve [] = 0`
`solve ((x:xs):xs') =`
`(solve (filter ((x*)^`
