Brothers in Arms is a World War II tactics game in which the player must lead a series of armoured vehicles through historical battlefields in pursuit of the ultimate objective. The game utilises full 3D terrain and movement, with a campaign mode over 11 single-player scenarios as well as three 'Blackjack' multiplayer modes in which one player controls all the vehicles, with the other two drivers providing support by providing supplies and communication. The campaign mode has 64 missions, with a variety of different objectives and types of terrain, ranging from the German forests of the Eastern Front to the open field of North Africa and even the streets of the French capital. The game also includes 'Blackjack' multiplayer modes, three for each type of vehicle. Players can choose to play on various kinds of maps, with 15 types of landscapes, ranging from beaches to water surfaces to mountain terrain. The game offers three control modes, allowing the use of mouse and keyboard, an analogue gamepad or the Xbox 360 controller. The game is made up of three sections: the base game, Blackjack and the campaign. In the base game, players can buy a variety of different vehicles, such as the Panzer II, Panzer III, Stuart tank, or the Dutch Ondelmans OP tank, or choose to start the game with a random selection of vehicles and outfits, allowing players to have a unique vehicle for the duration of the game. Players can also buy vehicles, both new and old, to form a collection of historically accurate vehicles. The Blackjack multiplayer mode is a team game which combines turn-based gameplay with the ability to move over realistic battlefields. Players have the ability to strategize tactics

What's new in Silicon Dreams | Cyberpunk Interrogation:

. The NINJA Critter If you didn’t watch any trailers for this game on Twitch, you can catch up on all the important information here, or here. Welcome to this years edition of my art-heavy Twitch Stream! I’m not going to lie to you guys and say I only stream when I have time on my hands, I actually tend to have more time to stream during the week and I enjoy it, so this brings me to this whole “schedule twitch” thing that we’ll be looking into. We’re also not gonna be immediately streaming this, but if you’re able to follow some of the older streams, I’m sure you’ll catch on pretty fast. This is actually going to be a couple of videos, one for Naruto, and one for Neko. As always, I hope you guys dig it, and as always, I’m excited to be streaming. ? [sources] Different corners of the Internet I’m going to be talking a little bit about what you can find on the internet about the game. Some might be centered around Nobu, and Nobu herself, some of them might be more geared toward Nexus, and the game in general. I will assume those who might not even know what that is. There will be “theoretical” theories, such as where the art originates from, the stuff the guys over at Nexus like to talk about. Get’s a little deeper than I like to go sometimes, but I gotta give that fan-boy area of my head something to do! More variable and fun in the next video! If you can’t already tell, after the season two cour I really hit the drawing table hard, cranking out information, pics, stuff that I’ll probably be showing next time. So be sure to check out that video! If you know how to embed YouTube videos on blogspot, be sure to watch the video that's embedded, that way it actually gets the info with the commentary that's applicable. As I said, this is where I go down the dark rabbit hole. I know there's a lot of haters out there, so I want to make it easy for people to come out the other side, or even walk away entirely

Golems Constructor is a sandbox game that lets you grow as a master builder. Start out as a poor farmer and work your way to become a wealthy noble. Produce goods and sell them in the market to achieve your goals. Build houses and castles with your golems. As you become more wealthy you will unlock other sandbox elements, like animals, creatures and devices. Pre-requested features: - Spells - Spell casting will be the main feature of the game. You will be able to use magic to speed up your building and help you with your tasks. To cast a spell you will need energy, which will be generated by your working golems. You have two spell slots, each can be used once per day. Only a few spells are available, but you will be able to upgrade them later with money. - Structures - Structures will be the second main feature. There will be dozens of different building types. Some will help you with your other tasks, some will grant you more bonuses. So choose wisely! Each structure gives you an amount of resources every day. You can leave your structures unattended to have the golems create it for you. - Animals - Animals will be the third main feature. There will be animals like chickens, cows and pigs, which will give you food or other useful resources. You can breed them by stacking different types of animals, but it's time consuming. You will also find some creatures that can't be collected, like the mysterious red eye and the dark wizard. - Mines - You will have a certain number of slots for digging, but you will be able to grow your own ore. Once you become a powerful mayor you will be able to build a large mining center with multiple levels. Don't worry, there's still plenty of crafting without relying on mining. - Crafting - crafting is a big part of the golems constructor. You will be able to create items to help you around the world, like a horse, a wagon or a train. To craft an item you will need two blocks from different resources. Each item will have different recipes. So you will have to choose which blocks you want to use to craft it. Sandbox Elements: - blocks - You will be able to create blocks to help you. Wood will make fire, stone will make building materials, iron will create golems and other crafting devices. - items - Many things will be made from items, like the green hook that will be useful to haul your
